Away Again From the English Post When It Was Thought He Was Captured.

HE IS AS SLICK AS AN EEL

Kruger Mourns Because No One Will Arbitrate, Yet He Is Very Hopeful.

ENGLISH FIND THEIR FOE STRONG

London, Feb. 16.—Lord Kitchener cables that Gen. De Wet's force has again gotten away from the British after yesterday's engagement. Kruger wants some nation to arbitrate. He thinks, however, the Boers will win. He is, as appears by an interview hopeful though disappointed.

The reports from the lines of battle are very contradicting. The English are finding the work of suppression and conquer very difficult.

LOCATE HERE

TWO OF MAYFIELD'S CHARACTERS NOW RESIDENTS OF PADUCAH.

Bull Hollier and Allen Caldwell, who were fined $100 and sentenced to 60 days in jail at the November term of court, for selling whisky without a license at Mayfield, took the insolvent debtor's oath today and were released from jail.

Hollier is a brother to Birch Hollier, who was with Bolin when killed at Mayfield recently by Sheriff Douthett.

The old man, who has also served a term in jail here for bootlegging, has located in Paducah, and Bull Hollier, who was today released, says he also will become a citizen of Paducah. "It was the second term for bootlegging for the latter."

SET FOR THURSDAY.

Dr. Warwick M. Cowgill, the oculist, was standing in front of his office on Broadway between Fourth and Fifth streets, last evening about 6 o'clock, with his two children, when a young woman walked up and with a small riding whip began striking him on the shoulders, at the same time saying she'd "Teach him how to wink at her."

After being struck two or three times Dr. Cowgill, who was greatly surprised at the assault, succeeded in getting the whip.

The girl proved to be Miss Mary Murphy, a domestic at Mr. W. H. Bowman's, on North Eighth street. She went to the city hall and made a statement similar to the above. She was released on bond, on a breach of the peace charge and a warrant was issued against Dr. Cowgill for disorderly conduct, in order that a trial may be had and the facts developed.

The girl's parents live in the Clark's River section of the county, but she has been living in the city for quite a while. She is a very handsome young woman.

She was seen on Broadway two weeks ago with the whip, and it is alleged left it at the Smith Sisters with the word that it would be called for. Yesterday afternoon she called for it.

Dr. Cowgill claims the girl is mistaken and that he had never seen her before to know her.

The cases were set for next Thursday before Judge Sanders and complete trials will result in both. A large number of witnesses have been summoned to testify.

CETTING WARM.

SIGNS OF TROUBLE IN WINFIELD, KANS., OVER JOINT SMASHING.

Winfield, Kans., Feb. 16.—An "anti-joint riot" is on here. The saloon men have many sympathizers who deny that the crusaders have a right to destroy saloon property. The passions of each faction are running and a clash between them is imminent. Several ministers have been warned to leave town.

There is much expressed excitement and the raided jointists are moving furniture to the suburbs.

BAD BOYS STILL ACTIVE.

Marshal Collins has received several more complaints about bad boys carrying away people's gates, and unless this vandalism is stopped will get warrants against them. The Marshal doesn't object to fun occasionally, but when taking gates away becomes an everyday occurrence his forbearance ends.

ELOPED FROM FULTON.

Leonard England, alias Clarence Woodland, eloped with the wife of Whit Bennett, another negro, of Fulton, and carried her to Union City, Tenn., where Sheriff Finch arrested them on a warrant sworn out by Bennett. They will both be prosecuted.

WEEK'S NEWS

The Retail Trade Is Experiencing Midwinter Dullness But Is Up to Normal

WHOLESALE HOUSES BUSY

Business With Several Local Houses Is Larger Than the Big Months of Last Year.

NEWS OF THE TOBACCO MARKET

Bank clearings the past week were $4841,940.6. Money continues in good demand and counter business heavy.

The retail trade is in the depths of the midwinter dullness, but trade is as good as could be expected. Some advance spring goods are being shown by the dry goods men and a few sales are reported on them.

With wholesalers trade conditions are good. Collections are fair. Some one or two houses are having record breaking business, the volume of trade running ahead of November and December sales.

The Commercial club continues to do good work. The past week it conferred with a new concern anxious to remove to Paducah and it has a score or more such propositions from good concerns all over the country.

Owensboro has just subscribed $100,000 to a glass plant to be established there this year. It will be a big thing. The payroll will amount to $15,000 a month.

TOBACCO.

The market the past week showed a little more life in the trade. The demand was good, however, sales were small. Prices averaged high for leaf and lug. Demands for all classes of the weed are bound to be good all season on account of the short crop.

Loose tobacco has been coming in freely. The weather the past few weeks has been splendid for burning plants and all indications at present point to a good crop this year. Inspector Miller reports:

Receipts for week, 117 hogsheads. Receipts for year, 884 hogsheads. Offerings for week, 37 hogsheads. Rejections for week, 4 hogsheads. Private sales for week, 0. Sales for week, 33 hogsheads. Sales for year, 347 hogsheads.

PROF. MAY QUILTS.

PRINCIPAL OF THE LONGFELLOW SCHOOL RESIGNS TO TAKE Effect March First—It is Reported There Will Be Other Resignations Among Teachers

Prof. Frank B. May, principal of the Longfellow school, today tendered his resignation to President J. T. Redick, to take effect March 1.

No cause is assigned, but it is understood that a lack of harmony in certain quarters prompted the resignation.

It is also rumored that there may be other resignations in the near future among teachers.

Prof. May's resignation will come up before the board at its next meeting. He has not decided where he will go from here.

R. Morton, who committed suicide in Owen county, left a note saying he was driven to it by his alleged friends.

POLICE COURT.

LOUIS JONES, ALIAS "BULL DOG," WARRANTED FOR PERJURY.

Louis Jones, alias "Bull Dog," colored, charged with attempting to use a razor on Noland Whitfield, colored, was fined $30 and costs in Judge Sanders' court today and a warrant was issued against him for false swearing. He swore he had neither knife or razor.

The breach of the peace case against John Hale was continued until Monday.

The breach of the peace cases against Lee Murray, white, and Noland Whitfield, colored, were dismissed.

J. L. Garnett was fined $1 and costs for being drunk.

KILLED IN MISSISSIPPI.

JOHN HAMILTON, OF PADUCAH, LOSES HIS LIFE ON THE ILLINOIS CENTRAL.

John Hamilton, a colored brakeman on the Y. and M. V. division of the Illinois Central, was killed in a wreck at Clarkdale, Miss., yesterday and the remains were brought here at 2 o'clock this morning for burial.

Hamilton lived on Washington street, this city, and leaves a wife here. He is a brother to Joseph Hamilton, the colored school teacher, who was 35 years old.

The remains were buried in Oak Grove today.

RURAL DELIVERY.

STRONG PROBABILITY THAT THE COUNTY WILL SHORTLY SECURE IT.

Postmaster F. M. Fisher has received encouraging intimation that rural delivery will be shortly secured.

This form of mail distribution is in vogue in many places, and would be a great advantage to the farmers. It would extend ten miles in every direction from Paducah. Postmaster Fisher will be in Washington the first of March and will then further investigate the prospects.

Deserted by his father and mother, Murderer Moser, who killed his wife and three children at Pekin, Ill., has found a friend in a wealthy young St. Louisian named Lewis Ostrander. Moved by the murderer's solitary condition, Ostrander has decided to place his money at Moser's disposal and otherwise aid him in his efforts to escape the gallows. Ostrander is now at Pekin.

Maurice Thompson, author of "Alice of Old Vincennes" and other novels, died at Crawfordville, Ind., Friday morning.

EXTRA SESSION

President McKinley Today Told the Senators He Would Call One When the

CUBANS QUESTION IS UP

Chinese Court, It Is Said, Refuses to Comply With the Agreement With Powers.

WILL NOT PUNISH UNRULY BOXERS

Washington, Feb. 16.—The president today told the senators he would call an extra session of congress on receipt of the Cuban constitution. This would seem to settle all doubt as to the extra session and the wish of the president relative to the Cuban question.

Pekin, Feb. 16.—The Chinese court is said to have sent an insulting note to the ministers refusing to comply with the punishment feature of the agreement with the powers heretofore presented and signed. All the negotiations are therefore upset and the diplomats are at sea. The announcement of refusal is calculated to throw the kingdom into a furor.

The Germans are preparing a great expedition, which will be absent from the capital eighty days. The only German troops left in Pekin will be battalions of infantry of marine.

SPIRITUALISM RESPONSIBLE.

DIVORCED WIFE RETURNS TO HER HUSBAND—STRANGE BUT TRUTHFUL STORY.

Says a New Albany, Ind., telegram: Divorced and separated for more than four years, Mrs. Louisa B. Gaines, remarries her husband, who killed her brother, and who has been serving a life sentence for murder in a Texas penitentiary, but who was recently given a new trial.

The beginning of the story, which is stranger than any fiction, dates back seven years. Miss Louisa B. Kook, charming and beautiful, a member of one of Indiana's prominent families, and an heiress of $200,000, married Wm. B. Gaines, a prominent citizen of Sherman, Texas. They started on a married life which was ideal. It seemed that no trouble could snap asunder the happiness of the young couple. Two children were born, a boy and a girl, which further cemented the ties.

Two years after their marriage they decided to go to Texas to live, the wife's father having moved there. Upon their arrival at Sherman they were startled with the news that their father, who was living with her brother, had died suddenly.

Then came the settling up of the estate, which resulted in the will of her father being contested by Gaines, who claimed that his wife had not been fairly dealt with, and therefore believed that her brother, Charles Kook, had influenced his father. A quarrel arose, which terminated in a fight in which Gaines shot and killed his brother-in-law, Charles Kook, in the court room at Sherman, Tex.

Gaines was tried for murder, and after a long trial, in which Mrs. Gaines spent most of her $200,000 in his defense, he was sentenced to prison for life. She returned to this city and secured a divorce from her husband, the courts giving her the children.

A few months ago she again employed an attorney in defense of her former husband, who took the case before the supreme court and a new trial was granted.

During his brief freedom Gaines had been to his former wife, after having his case to her, claiming that the killing of Kook was done in self-defense. He assured her that he would be acquitted when examined for the new trial.

He then pleaded for a reunion with his family, and after a short correspondence the former Mrs. Gaines, with her two children, went to Sherman and the family was again reunited by marriage, which took place in the county jail.

Another interesting chapter, which is still stranger than the other part of the story, is the part played by her religion. Mrs. Gaines and her people are spiritualists. They believe that the spirits of their friends return and communicate with them. Accordingly she went to her favorite medium, Mary A. Garrett, of Cincinnati, who told her that she had a communication with her brother, who verified Gaines' self-defense plea.

It seems that this impressed her more than anything else, and she made another attempt to secure her former husband's liberty, and as a result he has secured a new trial, which is now in progress. It is thought that he will be acquitted, as Mrs. Gaines is using the remains of her once large fortune to that end.

MASSAC COUNTY COAL FIELD.

Metropolis, Ill., Feb. 16.—Much interest has been aroused here by the discovery of a five and one-half foot vein of coal on the farm of Paul Foreman, four miles east of Metropolis. Evan John, state mine inspector for this district, was in the city yesterday and says the prospects for a good vein are excellent. This is the first coal in paying quantities found south of Williamson county.

SATURDAY, FEB. 16, 1901.

The country is still waiting upon the supreme court for its decision relative to the position of this country, constitutionally speaking, toward Porto Rico and the Philippine islands. But the decision will come in good season and will only be the stronger and clearer from the time taking to formulate the same.

King Edward could make his reign, though it may not be as long, as distinguished as was that of his mother's, if he would. The way is clear, but he is capable to traverse and cover the same. The new king can make of England a new nation, giving it new life, or he can stifle its future by withholding a proper spirit and one consistent with the day and the march of time. The kingdom itself is a burden.

President Diaz, of Mexico, will do well to take a rest. He is 70 years old and not very robust. Then he should educate his people to the fact that although he brought the country out of chaos and put it upon a stable foundation it has other as good men and can do without him, for he too must go the way some day. Without this education Mr. Diaz's death would indeed prove a great sorrow to it not the destruction, in a way, of Mexico.

The treasury statement for the beginning of February shows that the amount of money now in circulation in the United States is $2,190,780,215, as compared with $2,003,149,355 last year at this time. A large part of this gain in circulation in the twelve months is in the gold element of the currency. The amount of gold coin in circulation has fallen off slightly, but the gold certificates, or the paper representatives of the yellow metal, have expanded largely. The silver dollars in circulation have shrunk slightly in the year.

Congress promises to adjourn without any proposition to amend the constitution so as to make senators elective by direct vote of the people. This question has long been discussed and is strongly favored by the people and there is every reason why it should be made the law. Too long it has been overlooked and this just for the reason that a contemporary gives as to why the idea will never be enacted into law. Says this paper: "It is not merely an open secret, but a matter of public notoriety, that nearly or quite one-half of the present members of the United States senate would not have been elected by the people of their respective states. Many of them represent pocket commonwealths, where the senatorship is merely a matter of barter or cunning political manipulation; and in a majority of the states today only men of large fortunes attempt to win the highest legislative honors of the republic. In many instances men would not dare to submit themselves to the people as a candidate for senator have won their seats in the first legislative tribunal of the nation, chiefly or wholly by corrupt purchases, by which the popular will is insolently defied. Then the many disgraceful senatorial contests of the last few years, resulting in dead locks in four states of the union, have given the country a most impressive lesson on the importance of making senators elective by popular vote; and unless congress is prepared to place itself in direct opposition to the will of the people, it will submit to the general states the constitutional amendment allowing the people to choose their own senators by popular vote."

After a careful survey of the situation in the senate, the administration has come to the conclusion that there is little hope of a successful outcome of the efforts it has been making to secure action upon pending reciprocity treaties. The French treaty was purposely withdrawn into the background in order to test the suggestion that the West Indian treaties, being less calculated to excite opposition, might be put through, and so open the way for European treaties. This plan has failed, and the opinion prevails in administration circles that action can not be had upon any of the treaties this season and that they must all die, unless a change in senatorial feeling affords another opportunity for consideration during an extra session of the senate.

CONGRESS MUST ACT.

CUBAN QUESTION CAN NOT BE LIGHTLY PUT ASIDE.

Extra Session Now Seems a Necessity—President Wants the Island's Position.

Says a Washington telegram: In administration circles the belief that an extra session is inevitable has not been effected by the declaration of leading senators and representatives against doing anything beyond the adoption of a resolution defining what the United States expects of the Cubans in recognition of their obligations to this government.

The attitude of the president and his advisers on this subject continues so positive that the talk of persuading the executive out of the extra session idea grows less confident. The attorney general, the secretary of war and the postmaster general are against leaving the Cuban problem in a state of uncertainty until next December. The Cubans are clamoring for a statement of what the United States intends to do with the island. Their appeals for this definition of purpose are numerous and increasing. The president wants the subject decided in accordance with the pledge to grant the Cubans their independence, but he also wants it distinctly understood on what conditions of future relationship the troops will be withdrawn. The work of the constitutional convention is progressing rapidly. It is expected that a draft of the Cuban constitution will reach Washington shortly. Gen. Wood has been instructed by Secretary Root to tell the Cubans in a general way what this government thinks should be done.

The programme in congress does not allow time for any decision of the Cuban situation. But little more than two weeks remain before adjournment. The necessary appropriations will be passed, although perhaps rather hurriedly in the last hours.

The Democrats are willing that the Spooner bill, as amended, for the establishment of civil government in the Philippines, shall be passed. They are not willing for an agreement to anything for Cuba short of absolute and unconditional independence in the strictest construction of the congressional declaration on that point.

It is held by the majority of the senate and house that the Teller or Davis amendment to the declaration of war against Spain is not binding in the sense of being a law. It is said to have been but the expression of the views of congress at the time. The same congress or another congress can modify those views, or enlarge upon them.

This is exactly what the president wishes to have decided. He does not believe that the Cubans will remain quiescent without recognition for nine months. He is determined that congress shall give its undivided attention to the vital questions pressing for a prompt answer. He does not propose to take upon himself the burden or responsibility of meeting issues alone that congress is responsible for creating. Consequently, it would seem that an extra session, in the language of Attorney General Griggs, who was quoted freely at the capital, is inevitable, whether the United States is recognized in the Cuban constitution or not, or whether it reaches Washington before or after the 4th of March.

After a careful survey of the situation in the senate, the administration has come to the conclusion that there is little hope of a successful outcome of the efforts it has been making to secure action upon pending reciprocity treaties. The French treaty was purposely withdrawn into the background in order to test the suggestion that the West Indian treaties, being less calculated to excite opposition, might be put through, and so open the way for European treaties. This plan has failed, and the opinion prevails in administration circles that action can not be had upon any of the treaties this season and that they must all die, unless a change in senatorial feeling affords another opportunity for consideration during an extra session of the senate.

IN THE AIR.

THE GERMS OF LA GRIPPE ARE CONVEYED THROUGH THE ATMOSPHERE.

No one can escape the la grippe germ because when an epidemic of the disease is prevailing the air is laden with it.

The reason every one does not have the disease at the same time is because the persons who are enjoying perfect health are able to successfully resist and throw off the infection, while those who for any reason are not in the best of health fall ready victims. The first symptoms are those of acute catarrh, resembling a hard cold, and if prompt treatment is applied at this time, it can easily be broken up; one of the best remedies at this stage is Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, sold by druggists everywhere and if taken freely, say one tablet every hour or two for two or three days, the danger of pneumonia and serious complications will be averted.

The Rev. L. E. Palmer, Baptist clergyman of Ceresco, Mich., makes a statement of interest to all catarrh and grip sufferers. He says: "Stuart's Catarrh Tablets have certainly been a blessing to me. I have used them freely this fall and winter and have found them a safeguard against la grippe and catarrhal troubles, from which I had suffered for years. I feel that I can freely and conscientiously recommend them."

Persons who suffer from catarrh of the head and throat are very susceptible to la grippe and such will find a pleasant, convenient and safe remedy in this new catarrh cure.

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are composed entirely of harmless antiseptics and may be used freely as necessary as they contain no cocaine, opiate or poisonous drug of any kind.

Observationsat Random

The other day a certain gentleman dropped into a down town saloon and called for a drink.

About this time three of his friends came in, and were promptly invited to join him. They accepted, and several more entered before they were supplied, and were likewise asked to have something.

Then in came more. They had to get in the push, and when everything was set out and the bottle had been handed down the line, and the gentleman said, "Here goes," somebody inquired:

"See here, what are you a candidate for, anyhow?"

"My friend," he solemnly replied the whole soiled fellow with the dough, "I'm setting 'em up because I'm not a candidate!"

What Paducah needs is more pride among her citizens," remarked a gentleman yesterday, and his sentiments will doubtless be echoed by a great many other people.

"It seems to me," he continued, "that a great many people are content so long as the roof does not leak and the lock on the front door is secure. Paint? Ye Gods! there's room for oceans of it. Houses as well as fences need it. You can go along any street in town and see houses that I'll wager haven't had a dab of paint on them for ten years—except the daub that's still on them—and it's the same way with outbuildings. City pride is what is needed. That is, enough pride in the people to keep their property in good repair and appearance, for there's nothing that makes a town look so retrogressive and unattractive as to see dingy, ill-kept houses everywhere you go. It is nearly spring, and everybody who has a house or fence that needs paint should have it painted. Of course it will be a good thing for the painters but it is not for their benefit that these suggestions are made."

A great many funny things doubtless happen to the postman, but one of the most amusing on record is reported by Postman Chas. Grimm. He was bustling along his route yesterday when he rang the bell at a certain residence and handed the lady a letter when she came to the door.

"Look here," she snapped, flaring up at the sight of him, "what do you mean by leaving such villainous things at my house as that valentine you brought yesterday?"

"Why, madame," faltered the postman, who wanted to laugh but was prevented by her belligerent mien.

"You needn't 'madame' me," she shouted. "No gentleman would leave such a mean, contemptible thing as any lady's house!"

"But it had a stamp on it, and it didn't know what was in it," apologized the postman in a conciliatory tone. "I had to do it to hold my job."

"It makes no difference," she insisted, womanlike.

"You brought it to me and it was just too horrid—too base and vile and—just too loathsome and despicable to notice!" and she slammed the door

The Wearing and Using Time.

This is wearing and using time for winter goods and it will continue for weeks to come. We are selling winter merchandise now at prices that would prove ruinous at the start of the season. Much of this merchandise is not susceptible to style change; it's staple as wheat, but, the cash will take up much less room in the cash drawer than the merchandise on the shelves, besides we don't want to summer winter goods and will not do so if cut prices will sell them.

and the postman had to compromise with his conscience the best way he knew how as he continued his rounds. The incident is only told to show what the tolling, patient mail carriers have to often endure from some of the many varieties of people they visit daily.

Mr. Ralph Bingham, the impersonator, whose excellent entertainment was enjoyed by a large crowd last night, is a much traveled young man. For several years he has been going about alone giving his entertainments, and has established an enviable reputation all over the country. Many places he has visited as much as a dozen times since he first began his tours, which is conclusive proof that the people never tire of him.

During the summer he often appears for fifteen or twenty minutes in the large vaudeville houses of the metropolis cities, and receives big remuneration for comparatively little work.

And as might naturally be expected, he is becoming quite blasé.

"I have got so," he said to the writer, "that I don't care much for anything so long as I have a place to eat and sleep. People now look very much alike to me. All audiences are the same. I get up and tell my stories and go through with my entertainment about the same with one audience as another. They all seem alike, and I have really gotten so I pay very little attention to such details."

Nevertheless Mr. Bingham is a close student of human nature, and his sense of humor enables him to see the comedy in many incidents that other people would scarcely notice at all.

"JOSEPH'S WAGONS"

THE SUBJECT OF REV. MR. M. DONALD'S SERMON

LAST NIGHT.

A large congregation assembled in the First Presbyterian church last night to hear Rev. Angus McDonald's sermon on "Joseph's Wagons." The text was taken from Gen. 45, 27 and 28: "And when he saw the wagons which Joseph had sent to carry him the spirit of Jacob, their father, revived. And Israel said it is enough, Joseph, my son is yet alive; I will go and see him before I die." The speaker said in part, Joseph's wagons witnessed for him. Christ said: "If ye believe not my words believe my works, they testify of Me."

Joseph, in Egypt, the exalted kinsman according to the flesh, standing as a mediator between the king of Egypt and Jacob in Canaan, was made to illustrate Jesus, the exalted kinsman according to the flesh standing as a mediator between God, the king, and the sinner.

Jacob could see in the wagons that Joseph was alive and that the king of Egypt was interested in him. Through Joseph the king loved Joseph and Joseph loved Jacob. God loves Christ and Christ loves the sinner. Jacob could also see in the wagons provisions for the way an expression of Joseph's thoughtfulness.

His brethren were commissioned to call Jacob to come.

Twenty beasts of burden were loaded down with the best things of Egypt. The wagons were there to carry him. Christ sends his ambassadors. He says: "Oh taste and see that the Lord is good."

His church is his "Old Ship of Zion," to convey our souls into the desired haven.

Jacob found that the wagons and the good things Joseph sent were only a foretaste of the good things treasured up in Goshen.

"Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither hath it entered into the heart of man to conceive of the good things that God hath in reserve for them that love Him."

The sermon was listened to with wrapt attention.

There will be services today at 8 and at 7:30 p. m.

A cordial invitation is extended to all who may desire to come.
